

A Question by Adam Smith

the voices in my head are talking again don't listen don't listen don't listen the memories keep repeating repeating don't watch don't listen don't listen everybody's right and got their own opinion now on a sign, piece of paper or magazine eating information every night and day for breakfast lunch and dinner am I real or am I just a question or will I always wonder

I been talking to myself been talking to friends friends gather around, everybody around I've been driving myself a little crazy but do I ask for it because I choose to love am I real or am I just a question?

will there always be thunder?

the time is here, the time is now

the say the time is here the time is now the time is now.....
